

What Research Should Be Supported?

Most major health & medical organizations, including the American Medical Association, support cannabinoid research, but these same organizations reject raw marijuana as a medicine. The Institute of Medicine concluded there is no future for smoked marijuana.

Research that supports the medical efficacy of cannabinoids is generally not conducted using raw marijuana. The hope for marijuana's use in medicine lies in its chemical compounds (cannabinoids), not in its raw form.
